Profile

The Audio Visual Department of Concordia University has a new Television interview program currently in production.

The title of the program series is 'PROFILE'.

It is an open-ended concept, designed to be of service to the University community by providing a means whereby visiting speakers and personalities can be recorded on videotape and made available to professors and students now and in future years.

The program is in the form of a television interview conducted in the controlled environment of the Audio Visual Department's television studios. We appoint a professional interviewer to talk to the guest and, whenever possible, we encourage that a third person be involved in the interview; perhaps a member of the Department which is sponsoring the speaker. This is in order that certain topics of discussion can be raised which are of particular relevance to the students of the academic discipline under study.

The production team endeavours to include in the program as much complimentary enrichment material as possible, in the way of slides, films, graphics and on-location video recordings.

So, if you are sponsoring a visit to the University of a guest speaker or lecturer, or, if you wish to bring someone in specially, we are pleased to offer this service to you. It is FREE OF CHARGE, provided that the speaker in question is of relevance to students in a particular University course, and, that there is appropriate endorsement from the professor teaching the course.

The idea of central importance behind this interview series is to build our library of videotapes and to make them easily accessible to students and professors as class enrichment material and as incentives for class discussion. The programs can either be viewed in the lecture period or be given as assignments to be viewed outside the classroom by the individual student. With the recent opening of the new Non-Print Areas of the Libraries on both campuses (Audio Visual learning areas with individual study and viewing stations), we hope to make Audio Visual programs just as available and easy to obtain as it is to borrow a book from the Library.

We are working towards the day when professors will issue at the beginning of each term, along with a list of 'suggested reading,' an additional list of 'suggested viewing,' for their students.

The program 'PROFILE' is produced by Andrew Crighton and Martha Frombach of the Audio Visual Department.

They can be reached at 879-4424 or 879-5920. Room H-339 on the SGW campus.
